THE COURTS.

SETTLING THE STATIONERY SUITS.

E. Jones & Co. and William C. Rogers & were, during the Tweed Ring days, the stationers for the city. Suits were brought three years ago, nomthally to recover about $1,600,000 of moneys paid by the city to the members of those firms, really for about two-thirds of that amount, as it was conceded that the two-thirds of that amount, as it was conceded that the bills had some basis. Recently the surviving members of the two firms were arrested civilly, and imprisoned in Ludiow Street Jail in default of $250,000 bail. A motion for their discharge was desided. The two firms had begun suits against the city for nearly $2,000,000, including interest. The Corporation Counsel had strong proof that some of the bills were traudulent, but some had been approved by Connolly as Controller, and there was a question as to whether the city could question this approval. Under these circumstances Corporation Counsel Whitney accepted an offer from the firms to take $50,000 in settlement of all the disputed claims.

THE CHAMBERLAIN INDICTMENT.

Ex-Governor Chamberlain yesterday reecived from Attorney-General Youmans, at Columbia, S. C., a dispatch saying that the present term of the Sessions C., a dispatch saying that the present term of the Sessions Court was ended and the next term would begin on the fourth Monday in March, and adding that "reasonable ball is desired." Governor Chamberlain replied with the offer of any amount of security desired, and asking that he be allowed to execute his bond here in New-York. If this proposition is not accepted he will go at once to Columbia and give ball there.

TWO SUBJECTS OF CURRENT INTEREST. DEAN STANLEY.

MR. BEECHER ON THE ELECTION AND THE VISIT OF

There are two subjects of current interest of which I wish to speak," said Mr. Beccher at the Plymouth prayer-meeting Friday night. "The first is the result of the political strife that has taken place. There are very few subjects which seem less allied to morality and religion than questions of finance, and yet in a remote way nothing has a more powerful influence on a community. The great disturbance which the war brought to us-a dislocation of all the relations of this Nation-was more manifest in our fluances than our had accumulated an in debt, and the first question that arose was whether the Nation would resist the temptation to repudlate its vast debt. I heard men after the war say that we had got to go in'o repudiation. This was shocking to a man of honor. After the disturbance cuiminated in the great revolution of 1873, there was a of honor. After the disturbance calimbated in the great revolution of 1873, there was a march backward in the direction of substantial money. Prices came down. This was a tremendous trial, when every one experienced the pang and peril of contraction. And then the temptation of 'fiat' money was held out 'printing-press money it might be called—which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent worth. This idea was a tempt-which does not represent which was compatible with honesty. There was a tremendous temptation brought to bear upon the Nation.

"I rejouce in two things—that this vote has determined that we are going to have honest money and be an honest Nation before the world, and then I rejouce that, when a question of merality is brought to this people, they respond, and that such a question can be left for adjudication to the common people. If any Nation is bound to integrity and National justice, for the sake of the poor and of the rich, for the sake of tood and humanity, it is this Nation. When a great question pivots on honesty and integrity, it is cheering that the National conscience springs up. For the present this Nation has said to the sirenback bovil, 'Get thee behind me, Satan.' [Applause.] But the temptation is not dead. It will be as watching. Nor is my rejoicing the leas because some emment statesmen have received hard blows. When I think of the grief of Massachusetts at the loss of her great statesman, I feel sympathy for her, but in the cause of National morality we must make some sacrifices." [Laughter]

Mr. Beecher also spoke of the visit of Dean Stanley to this country, saying that of the profoundly honest and profoundly conscientious met who

ST. PATRICE'S GREAT FAIR.

CROWDS OF CHILDREN IN THE AFTERNOONS-CURI-

OUS ATTRACTIONS AND NEW OBJECTS FOR RAF-FLING-LARGE RECEIPTS.

The public interest in the fair at the new St. Patrick's Cathedral, in Fifth-ave., is well indicated by the fact that since the opening night the average attendance has been between ten and eleven thousand a tay. During last week the fair was througed in the Mternoons with children from the various parochial schools, of which there are forty in the city. Friday afternoon there were more than seven hundred children at the fair from St. Anthony's and St. Mary's schools, and from the Fifty-second Street Orphan Asylum. The cmidren crowded especially about the toy tables, and when at 4:30 they formed in line to go home, the air was filled with a great variety of noises from little horns, rattles and instruments of all descriptions. On Thursday s large number of children from the Fifty-second Street Asylum attended the fair, and later in the day hearly four hundred boys and girls came from the schools of 5t. Mary, in Madison-st., and St. Columba, in Twenty-fifth-st. Saturday the children from the Dominican School were present.

ef St. Mary, in Madison-st., and St. Columba, in Twenty-fifth-st. Saturday the children from the Dominican School were present.

It was said Saturday that the receipts had amounted to nearly $100,000. The Committee of Management has decided to close the fair on Tuesday, November 26, articles are continually being sent to the various tables, and the fair attendants immediately begin new raffles. One of the most successful features has been the daily paper in which a record is kept of the additions to the paper, is devoted each day to the history of some featerathedral of the Old World, and the account is limitrated with an engraving.

One of Edison's phonographs is exhibited. An admission fee is charged of course to hear its wonderful voice, and at the close of the fair it will be raffled for. Twenty hossheads of pale sic are among the things for sale at the table of the Church of the Holy Name of Jesus. At its Bernard's table is a gold-headed cane which was won a raffle by Police Inspector Murray has they. It then brought 8t. Bernard'a Church $5,800, and Inspector Murray has given it to be raffled for again. At St.

James's table is a single-scull wherry, in which all muscular visitors are requested to take shares. At another table is a device which will put the vanity of some one to the test. A glit potent frame rests against a rack, and on it is the announcement that the winner (shares $1 each) will be given an order to have his or her portrait painted by a Broadway artist at a cost (to the table, of course,) of $300. It is conspicuously announced that on November 24, the Mapleson opera troupe will give a concert in Steinway Hall, in aid of the fair.

William J. Hughes, manager of the Royal Canadian Insurance Company, has given to the fair an insurance policy of $200,000, covering everything exhibited.

EPPS' COCOA

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast-tables with a delicately flavored beverage, which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of thet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by seeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."
